RECUPERATING AT SEASHORE.

Justice Stafford Goes to Atlantic City for Needed Respite.

Justice Stafford of the District Supreme Court is recuperating this week at At-lantic City. The health of the justice has been slightly impaired by the strenuous work of the past three months, when he has been obliged to conduct all the equity hearings. The death of Chief Jus-tice Clabaugh took Justice Gould to the Criminal Court and left only one judge in equity.

Justice Stafford also holds the Probate Court, and the added work has been a severe strain on his physical powers. His physician recommended the week's visit to the seashore at this time as a precautionary measure.

Justice Gould is now presiding in the Criminal Court and in the Probate Court. He will also sign urgent matters in equity during this week. He announced today that the Probate and Equity courts would convene all this week at 9 a.m. so that the business can be cleared up in time to allow him to conduct the Criminal Court.

AMUSEMENTS.

New National

The Aborn Opera Company at the National last night presented "Car-men" with highly commendable re-sults. Jayne Herbert in the name role conveyed a very real sense of the evil coquetry which made the cigarette girl more alluring to a good man than the innocence of the girl he really loved. Leonid Samoloff, as Don Jose, the soldier; Jean Theslof, in the scarlet and braggadocio of the torea dor, and Lena Mason, as the peasant of the newspaper men who reported maid, Micaela, were prominent figures in a cast which, to its least important character, contributed indictions. Funeral services are to be held in the Charles Evans cemetery at Reading, Pa., tomorrow. Interment is the beautiful of the character in the characte
